G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT IN BOSTON AUGUST 15 TO 20.

Low Rates—A Delightful G. A. R. Booklet Free.

Ten years ago historic old Boston welcomed the Grand Army of the Republic, and the reception which New England tendered the "Vets" has long been remembered. The gala appearance of the Puritanical old city; and the magnificent military pageant which marched through the crooked streets, lined with cheering throngs, made the G. A. R. Reunion of '94 a memorable event.

In ten years many changes have taken place in the ranks of these sturdy old soldiers; and while they may lack the quick step of their former Boston march, they are still ready for duty; and at the annual encampment in Boston this year, August 15th to 20th, it is anticipated that over 100,000 people will visit the city, and over forty thousand will be in parade. Visitors are expected from every quarter of the country; and the same care and watchfulness will follow the G. A. R. visitors which was exercised over the large gathering of teachers assembled here last summer. Boston is an ideal convention city. Hotel proprietors, citizens and boarding-house keepers all unite in doing their utmost for the ease and comfort of the visitors. As a city of interest, Boston is without an equal; the many famous landmarks, historical buildings and places in Boston and the suburbs, make it doubly attractive as a convention city. Low rates from all sections of the country will apply; and to further aid the visitor, the Boston & Maine has recently published a delightful booklet which tells all about the encampment and contains illustrations of the numerous historic landmarks and monuments in Boston and suburbs. The outside cover of the booklet is in three colors, showing an exact reproduction in colors of the official G. A. R. badge on a white background, with a green wreath enclosing the whole on a blue setting, while the lower half is in black with white lettering. This booklet is invaluable as a guide and makes an interesting souvenir. Just send a postal card to the General Passenger Department, Boston and Maine Railroad, Boston, and the booklet will be mailed to you free.

BASEBALL

E. Frank Lewis, 3; Ballardvale, 0.

Ballardvale was defeated on the Plains, Saturday afternoon, by the strong E. Frank Lewis team, of Lawrence, in a close and exciting game, by a score of 3-0.

Both Drisko and Lamb pitched gilded ball, each having 11 strikeouts, but Drisko had a shade the better of it.

The steady even playing of the visitors finally enabled them to shut out the home team and the errors of the home team allowed the visitors to score three runs and win a well earned victory.

For Ballardvale, Drisko, Hickey, and Brigham played good ball. W. Wheatley batted well.

For E. Frank Lewis, Lamb, Turner and Haley played well.

Turner's throwing to bases was very strong and accurate.

PASSENGER ELEVATOR IN CENTRAL BUILDING FALLS.

At 1:30 Friday afternoon the elevator in the Central building fell, but owing to the presence of mind of Daniel Barry, the elevator boy, a fatality was averted.

Barry and three passengers, H. O. Keesling, Edward O'Mahoney and B. D. Downey, were in the elevator when it came down from the top floor when the accident happened. As the car was passing between the third and second floors the support which holds the shafting at the top of the well gave way and the cast iron pulley block, which is nearly three feet in diameter and 8 inches in thickness came crashing down into the top of the elevator, smashing the roof and twisting the iron framework as if it had been lead.

The three passengers were standing against the rear of the car and the elevator boy close to the cable in front. This circumstance saved them from being crushed to death, as the heavy iron block fell through the centre of the car.

With remarkable presence of mind Barry threw open the door on the second floor and pushed the passengers to safety as the car went downward, he himself jumping at the last moment.

This feat was done so quickly that the passengers hardly realized what had happened. The car proceeded to the bottom of the drop, but as there was no one in it then the danger was over.

Edward O'Mahoney, was the most seriously injured. He sustained a cut four inches long in the back of his head, caused by pieces of the mirrors about the side of the elevator car, which were shattered. He was taken to the office of Dr. W. J. Sullivan, where the wound was dressed. The injury is not regarded as dangerous.

Mr. Keesling's face was slightly cut and Mr. Downey sustained bruises on the face.

The shock affected Barry considerably, but he was otherwise uninjured. His prompt action in getting the passengers out of the car has earned words of commendation for him on all sides.

By holding on to the cable he was able to retard the downward progress of the car somewhat and that gave him a chance to open the second story door, but if he had not kept his presence of mind he could not have accomplished the feat.

Edward O'Mahoney is a son of M. O'Mahoney and resides at 67 Cross street. He is 19 years of age.

The elevator car is a wreck. A safety appliance retarded the drop of the car to a certain extent.

NEW RULES GOVERNING CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

Dr. Winchester, the well known local veterinary and inspector, has received the following communication from the chief of the cattle bureau:

State House, Boston, June 20, 1904.

To all Persons whom it may concern.

By virtue of the power and authority vested by law in the Cattle Bureau of the State Board of Agriculture, under the provisions of chapter 90 of the Revised Laws and chapter 116 of the Acts of 1902, you are hereby notified that glanders and farcy, which is a contagious disease, and is so recognized under the laws of this Commonwealth, prevail extensively among horses and mules in some sections of this State.

You are hereby further notified that in order to prevent its spread, this Bureau has issued the following orders:

1. In stables or upon premises where horses or mules are kept in this Commonwealth (except Boston) in which cases of glanders or farcy occur, any or all of the animals kept in such stables or upon such premises will be tested with mallein, in such instances as the Chief of the Cattle Bureau deems it necessary to do so. Animals reacting to the mallein test will be held in quarantine and the owners are forbidden to sell or dispose of such animals until they are released from quarantine by order of the Chief of the Cattle Bureau, but he will give permission to use animals which do not show physical symptoms of glanders or farcy. Animals which develop physical signs of glanders or farcy will be killed; animals ceasing to react will be released as soon as the public safety will permit.

2. When an animal with glanders or farcy has died, or is killed by order of the Chief of the Cattle Bureau, or with the consent of the owner (outside of the city of Boston), no other horse or mule shall be put in any stall, shed, or enclosure formerly occupied by an animal so diseased, until such stall, shed or enclosure has been thoroughly disinfected in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Cattle Bureau.

3. In stables where the Chief of the Cattle Bureau tests all the animals kept therein, no horses or mules shall be introduced into, or sold from, the stable without his sanction until he declares the premises free from infection.

4. Blacksmiths when directed to do so must disinfect their shops in accordance with the instructions of the Chief of the Cattle Bureau or his authorized agent.

5. In instances where the circumstances require it, the proper authorities are hereby ordered to close the public watering troughs when directed to do so by the Chief of the Cattle Bureau, the same to remain closed until he gives permission to reopen them. Public watering troughs in cities or (outside of Boston) where cases of glanders occur are to be cleaned at least once a week during the summer months.

Inspectors of animals in towns where glanders or farcy occurs shall publish this order by posting a printed copy thereof in three or more public places within the limits of their respective cities or towns.

This order shall take effect upon its approval.

AUSTIN PETERS, Chief of Cattle Bureau.

Council Chamber, State House, Approved in Council June 22, 1904.

Railway Mileage Increase.

The gain in railroad mileage in this country for the year ended June 30, reports the Interstate Commerce Commission, was 5,500 miles, or more than in any year since 1890. The total single track mileage on June 30, 1903, was 207,977 miles. The aggregate length of railway mileage, including tracks of all kinds, was 283,821, an increase of 9,626 miles. The railway corporations included in the report number 2,075.

The number of persons on the pay-rolls of the railways in 1903 was 1,312,537, or 639 per 100 miles of line. The value of the amount of railway capital outstanding was $12,599,990,258, representing a capitalization of $63,196 per mile for the railways in the United States. The number of passengers carried was 694,891,535, an increase of 45,013,080. The total number of casualties to persons was 86,393, of which 9,840 represented the number of persons killed and 76,553 the number injured. Of the above total 335 passengers were killed and 8,231 injured, as compared with 345 passengers killed and 6,883 injured during the previous year. The ratios of casualties indicate that one employee in every 384 was killed and one employee in every 22 was injured. Of trainmen one was killed for every 123 employed and one injured for every 100. One passenger was killed for every 1,857,441 carried and one injured for every 84,424 carried.

Crop Report Favorable.

The government crop report issued July 11 is favorable on all crops. The total yield of spring and winter wheat is estimated at 664,152,000 bushels and the corn crop at 2,537,268,000 bushels. Oats promised a total of 900,503,000 bushels. Any damage done to crops since July 1 by excess of rain will reduce these figures.

Bell Telephone's Growth.

The total number of telephones put in use by the American Bell Telephone company, says the American Inventor, has now reached the 4,000,000 mark, with an increase of 253,150 phones in the past year.

Russia Wheat Crop Fails.

Wheat continued to rise in price, due largely to cables from Europe telling of the prospective failure of crops in Russia and parts of Hungary. The failure in Russia is said to be due to the early frost, insufficient moisture while sowing, the fluctuating weather of the winter and the lack of rains for grain and hay. The peasants have been forced to harvest unripe crops to feed the live stock, and committees have been appointed to relieve the distress.

World's Fair's Big Receipts.

The report of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition company gives the receipts from all sources from June 16 to 30 as $532,730.37. The concessions contributed nearly 30 per cent of this amount. Forty per cent of the amount, $213,092.15, was paid into the treasury in St. Louis on July 1. Five hundred thousand dollars due the government July 15 was paid.

Japan's Big Beef Order.

An order for 1,000,000 pounds of canned beef for the use of the Japanese army has been filled by Chicago firms, the whole amount being loaded on the steamship Shewmut, on Puget sound, for delivery at Yokohama. It was carried to the coast by the Northern Pacific in special trains of forty refrigerator cars each. It is the largest shipment of canned meat ever made across the Pacific.

Philadelphia's Bonds Awarded.

The $16,000,000 loan for the city of Philadelphia was awarded last week by Mayor Weaver to J. & W. Seligman & Co., the New York bankers, at 101.038. By a special agreement, however, the Seligmans are to share the bonds to all who made higher bids, selling them at 102.

General Strike on the Beef Trust

When the noon whistle blew in the big Chicago stockyards July 12 all the butchers' workmen left their jobs, and at the same time their allies at St. Louis, Omaha and other big packing centers quit work also, nearly 50,000 men thus becoming idle to enforce certain demands for a minimum unskilled labor scale. The strike order had been issued the day before by President Donnelly of the International union of the butchers' workmen and was directed against the eight big meat packers who comprise the so called beef trust.

Thus a gigantic struggle was inaugurated between combined capital and organized labor just at the psychological moment when a wave of industrial depression marked the beginning of the presidential canvass. Prices of beef throughout the country began to soar, and a famine in this staple of consumption was threatened.

Efforts were made at once to settle the dispute by arbitration, but as the employers were unwilling to take back the strikers in a body at the old scale pending a verdict the first conference failed. Many non-union men were taken on, and both sides prepared for a fight to the finish. The stationary firemen set the pace for a general sympathy strike. President Gompers was in charge of the strike.

Vague but persistent rumors were afloat that the packers had fixed up the strike with labor leaders to muzzle the public, but both sides made indignant denials. It was also said that labor interests hoped for trouble so as to involve the president in the controversy.

ing to them at 102. This includes the small bids made through the North American, which were higher than the Seligman bid.

SOCIOLOGICAL

29,073,233 American Workers.

A census bureau report on occupations shows that in continental United States the total number of persons engaged in gainful occupations in 1900 was 29,073,233, which constituted one-half the population ten years of age and over and nearly two-fifths of the entire population. Of these 4,833,630 were women and 1,750,178 were children. Those of foreign birth aggregated 5,851,390, or one-fifth of the total number of gainful workers. The statistics show that the immigration of twenty years had not increased the proportion of the foreign born in the working population of the country.

The New Charity.

The keynote of the recent national gathering of charity workers at Portland, Me., as reported in the various reform journals, was the idea in every department of finding ways and means to foresee and to avert evil by constructive educational work and affirmative effort in the social settlements and neighborhoods rather than by merely alleviating the various forms of poverty and distress. With this object special attention is to be paid by all the charity workers to the rising generation. Thus the man who can devise means through manual training, gardening or athletics to get a child vitally interested in doing good work for the pleasure of it is preventing that child from ever becoming a tramp or a criminal.

Recreative Sports

A Record Race at Brighton.

The new world's record of 2:02 4-5 for a mile and a quarter was made by Broomstick, the winning horse in the $25,000 Brighton handicap, July 9. Irish Lad showed signs of breaking down, but finished a close second, with Waterboy and Ort Wells far in the rear.

A New Walking Record.

Larner, the English walker, made the new amateur record of three miles in twenty minutes at Herne Hill, London, July 9.

Professional Golf Champion.

Willie Anderson of the Apawamis Golf club of Rye, N. Y., won the open golf championship for the third time at the Glenview links at Chicago, July 9, with a score of 303 strokes for 72 holes in two days' play. He takes $200, a gold medal and holds the championship cup.

British Hold Palma Trophy.

The counsel of the National Rifle association of England has decided that last year's contest for the Palma trophy shall be void and that the trophy shall be retained by England as custodian until another match is arranged. The trophy had been returned by the American Rifle association in view of the charges that the American contestants had used rifles not conforming to the conditions of the match.

SCIENTIFIC

New Facts About Cancer.

The third annual report of the Cancer Research Fund at London says that several important discoveries have resulted from the year's investigations, namely that cancer affects animals as well as human beings and also fishes, and attacks all subjects at relatively the same age. It is not infectious and is transmissible from one species to another. It is not attributable to a parasite and is not on the increase. Experiments have not shown that radiation exercises a curative effect, but a serum has been discovered from which good results are hoped. No infallible symptom has yet been discovered for diagnosing cancer. The Cancer Research Fund is a society of eminent English physicians, of which the Prince of Wales is president.

A Remedy For Leprosy.

The London Times reports that Captain E. R. Rost of the Indian medical service at Rangun, Burma, has cultivated the bacillus of leprosy, and had made a serum called "leprolin" which had been injected into lepers with marked success, four cures being claimed. The method of growing the bacillus is based on the idea that all salt must be extracted from the nutrient media. Beef extract is distilled and with pumice stone is soaked in a current of superheated steam. In this the bacillus of leprosy grows freely. Over 100 cases are already in process of treatment in Burma.

Scouting by Telephone.

A war invention which the Japanese are using successfully is a portable telephone for scouts. As the scout advances toward the enemy he carries the phone and reels out behind him a telephone line connected with his headquarters. He is accompanied by an electrician, who carries a battery.

EDUCATIONAL

Anglo-Saxon Epic a Mine.

Dr. G. Stanley Hall, in his new work on "The Psychology of Adolescence," discovers extraordinary educational value in the great mass of crude literature based on the Arthurian legends. He says it is a sort of secular New Testament of classical myths which parallel those of Grecian mythology and shows how the virtues grew slowly and naturally in the soul of the race. He finds, however, that all of this matter is not now available for educational uses and urges that the whole be recombined and rewritten for the use of pupils. He suggests the advantage of plays and organizations imitative of the Knights of the Round Table, with real chivalry as the objective.

Manual Training Condemned.

Comptroller Grout, in submitting to the New York city board of education a report of the recent investigation of the board's methods, made with a view to cutting down expenses, says that too much has been spent on physical and manual training, sewing, cooking and music, to the neglect of the common branches in the elementary grades. The result accomplished, he says, does not justify the outlay. Mock dressmaking, dummy kitchens and make believe carpenter shops were said to foreshadow a coming reality, and it was recommended that these necessary experiments be confined to model schools and pedagogical laboratories till their practical usefulness had been demonstrated.

Miscellaneous

Accidents.

Twenty persons were killed and twenty-one injured when a picnic train on the Chicago and Eastern railroad collided with the rear end of a freight train near Chicago, July 13.

While going at a high speed an automobile was struck by a train on the Long Island railroad crossing at Rockville Center, N. Y., July 14, killing three of the occupants.

Fire destroyed forty-two buildings in the business section of Wilmington, Del., July 12, causing a loss of about $200,000.

A cloudburst over the hills of Mexico July 14 caused a flooding of the city of San Juan del Monte, drowning 200 of the inhabitants.

Seventeen persons were killed and forty seriously injured by a rear end collision on the Erie railroad near Midvale, N. J., July 11. The accident was believed to be due to wrong display of signals. A rigid investigation was begun.

Deaths.

The Right Rev. Frederick Dan Huntington, Episcopal bishop of the central diocese of New York, died at Hadley, Mass., July 12, aged eighty-five.

Samuel M. Jones, known as the "Golden Rule" mayor of Toledo, O., died at Toledo July 12. He was fifty-eight years old.

Oom Paul Kruger, former president of the Transvaal, died at Clarens, Canton Vaud, Switzerland, July 14.

Philip Casey, who for twenty-five years held the title of champion handball player of the world, died at Brooklyn, N. Y., July 13, aged fifty-six.

The Rev. Dr. Lemuel Moss, D. D., L. L. D., one of the foremost Baptist educators and divines, died at New York July 13, aged seventy-five.

SOUTHERN NEW HAMPSHIRE REDUCES FARES.

Monday the New Hampshire Traction company yielded to the public and the recent recommendation of the railroad commissioners and has announced a reduction of fare on several of its lines.

Shortly the fare on the Ayer's Village line will be reduced to the normal five cent rate. Another reduction is also announced on the Lawrence and Methuen end of the system, beginning today, the round trip fare being established at 15 cents.

The company will issue a system of tickets for use on the Ayer's Village line which will be for the benefit of regular patrons of the line, those residents who protest against the fare increase, but to the casual rider the fare will remain the same, 10 cents to the second fare line as re-established. Under the new ticket system passengers who regularly ride to and from the central section of Haverhill will be allowed to purchase tickets in quantities, at the rate of five cents each. This will allow them to ride the same distance as before for the five cent fare, but rides beyond the fare point will be additionally charged. The ticket system for regular passengers was recommended by the board of railroad commissioners and the company adopted it and at the same time made an extensive alteration in all rates to the regularly traveling residents of the suburbs.

The following bulletin was issued from the general offices of the New Hampshire Traction company in Haverhill at noon yesterday:

"Beginning Tuesday morning, the 19th inst., the fare on the Lawrence-Haverhill division of the New Hampshire Traction company's system will be restored to 10 cents.

"The present outstanding workingmen's three-cent tickets will be received on both the Lawrence-Methuen end and the Haverhill end, but no further tickets of this kind will be sold. In place of the workingmen's ticket the company is having printed and will have on sale in a few days a reduced fare ticket, which will be sold in quantities at the rate of 3-4 cents. The tickets may not be used, however, for a single or five-cent ride, and will only be good where passengers are travelling through two or more fare limits.

"This arrangement will give the regular patrons of the company who are riding beyond a single limit the benefit of a reduced rate, and the result will be as follows:

Haverhill to Lawrence or Methuen	10c	75c
Haverhill to Plattsburgh	10c	75c
Haverhill to Salem	10c	75c
Haverhill to Newbury	15c	110c
Haverhill to Amesbury	20c	15c

Building on the High Hills.

A drive through the country in any direction, is revealing an increasing interest in the high hills as sites for homes. Essex County is particularly favored in this direction. Beginning with North Andover and running to the sea, through Ipswich, Rowley, Boxford, Topsfield, Wenham, and all of the other little towns clear to the Cape, men are seeking out the desirable locations and in most cases building thereon magnificent estates.

The growth of the country and the increase in wealth is bound to induce a still wider movement along this line. Our own town has as yet seen but little of this development. What has been done has been in a purely local way, but it is an open secret that the many hill tops of Andover are attracting the increasing interest of many outsiders with the almost surety that their charms will win purchasers at a not very distant day. The "hill" farms are thus rapidly acquiring a new value and new interest. A decade hence there is bound to be in Andover a half score or more of great estates where now is the simple farm house. The development is rapidly that way, and it only needs the co-operation of the owners in yielding to a fair price, to bring this most desirable change to Andover as it has come to so many other Essex towns.

Less Cost—More Fun.

The summer hotels are complaining very loudly about the season's business. A similar complaint is coming from the owners of high priced cottages who have them to rent, and all along the line of summer expenditure the order seems to be for retrenchment.

As an index to the business situation this condition of things would indicate a poorer public, yet when one investigates the railway travel there seems to be more people than ever seeking summer recreation. But they are more and more seeking that recreation which is not surrounded with too much luxury. The summer seeker wants less dressing and less food of all kinds than he did once. He demands all the comforts, but at little nonsense in the settings as is possible.

Thus the cheaper cottages at the less pretentious places are full to overflowing. Campers-out are seen everywhere, and real fun and real recreation is abounding this summer as never before. Don't let the empty high priced hotels and cottages stand for a lessening vacation habit; let them rather stand for more fun at less expense, for more vacationists than ever before.

Editorial Cinders.

Andover is very cordially interested in the announcement of the splendid gift of a new library building to its sister town of North Andover by our mutually honored townsman, Hon. M. T. Stevens. It is worth a thousand Carnegie libraries, for it represents a citizen's appreciation of his town and fellow citizens in such a way as to be a perpetual link between a man and his neighbors. Mr. Stevens does not state what name it shall bear, save that it shall be a "Memorial Library", but whatever name may be cut over its door, the name that will be carved in the hearts of the North Andover townspeople will be that of the donor whose long life has brought so much of prosperity and happiness to his native town.

The brown tails are still flying, but not to such an extent as a week ago. But let no one think they have left us, for they are great players at hide and seek, and already have probably found a thousand and one quiet corners among the Andover foliage where they can deposit eggs for next year's mischief. Fruit trees are their particular joy, and orchards should be watched carefully. Eternal vigilance is most emphatically to be the price of liberty from this public nuisance.

The Andover Natural History society is certainly very much alive. They provided a most enjoyable day on Wednesday for the leading historical devotees of Essex County, and at night sent nearly two hundred guests to their homes all over the County with a new appreciation of Andover's wealth in natural gifts and historical data. Congratulations to the society, and to the town that promises to be so richly benefitted by its existence.

We are informed that there is little demand for concrete sidewalks by the abutments, who are supposed to pay a part of the cost of laying the same. There are certainly a number of places in town where concrete walks are needed, and the small appropriation should be taken up several times over.

Annual Picnic.

The annual picnic of the South church Sunday school was held last Saturday at Haggitt's pond. Barges leaving the Square conveyed the party to the pond and there was a good crowd to enjoy the day's outing. Boating, fishing, swinging, and various games made the day pass very pleasantly, and at noon a basket lunch was served.

In the afternoon races and baseball games were held, in which all of the young people joined heartily. The events and winners were as follows: Young men's boat race, Ralph Upton; young women's boat race, Sallie Pratt and Miss Mills; 100-yard dash, Frank Barton; three-legged race, Frank Barton and William Hardy; onion race, Hattie Abbot; obstacle race, Hattie Abbot; boys under 14 years, 100-yard dash Phil Cheever; young men's baseball game, won by Frank Barton's team; young women's baseball game, won by Hattie Abbot's team. Prizes, consisting of burnt leather work, were given to the winners of all events.

The party left the grove shortly after 8 o'clock and arrived home in good season, all being pleased with the fun of the day.

Bicycle Recovered.

The chainless bicycle, owned by O. P. Chase, which was stolen from the entry of the Belmont on Wednesday afternoon, July 13, was recovered by Chief of Police Frye, on Saturday afternoon, after a short but diligent hunt for the missing machine which has been returned to Mr. Chase.

The thief was found to be the colored man who was suspected, and he was found in Chelsea where he had been arrested for the theft of a sum of money from a woman for whom he volunteered to go on an errand. He took the money and did not return. He was convicted and sentenced to 20 days at Deer Island on failure to pay a fine of $10. He gave his name as Manson Borden. When arrested he still had the bicycle, which was purchased of him by a police officer for his son, who, he said, was anxious for a wheel, $5 being given for it. The chief of police of Chelsea was angry with the officer who, he said, should have known better, and he was sorry that $25 had not been paid for it instead of the small sum.

At the termination of Borden's term at Deer Island he will be tried for the theft of the bicycle.

Pleasant Trolley Trip.

The second trolley trip of the season, held under private auspices, occurred last evening, when three carloads of jolly people made Canobie Lake park their destination, and for the short time spent there the party enjoyed all the privileges of the park.

Leaving the Square shortly after seven o'clock the 225 or more passengers proceeded to Lawrence, where the cars of the Southern New Hampshire line were boarded and the party arrived at the Lake about 8.45. Immediately all sought their different amusements. Many enjoyed the roller-coaster, others the dance hall, while the rest enjoyed the show in the open air theatre.

Promptly at 10.45 the cars were filled for the return trip and the party arrived in the Square at 12 o'clock.

On the trip up and on the return the passengers were kept busy dodging peanuts, etc., and much fun was derived during the trip.

Escaped Serious Injury.

Jesse E. West, the driver of the bakery wagon for the Park Street baker, narrowly escaped injury last Friday afternoon while in Ballardvale. His horse was frightened by the running away of another horse hitched to a hay wagon, one wheel of which was broken and was making considerable noise.

In turning a corner the team was overturned and Mr. West was thrown out. He was severely cut about the body and arms but was not internally injured, escaping luckily as the team was overturned.

The wagon escaped with a few scratches.

Broke His Hip.

Henry F. Pasho, an old and respected citizen of this town, fell and broke his white in his home on Summer street on Tuesday morning. Mr. Pasho, who is 82 years of age, has been rather feeble for a number of years past and although his family wanted him to change his residence he still clung to the old homestead. He had always been a hardy man and up to a short time ago had conducted a farm. Mrs. Pasho died a few years ago.

Dr. Abbott was called and ordered the injured man removed to the Lawrence General Hospital. The ambulance was sent for and he was removed to that institution. From latest reports he was resting as comfortably as possible.

For many years he was a trusted engineer on the Boston & Maine railroad. Mrs. Howell F. Wilson and Mrs. Charles W. Clark are daughters of Mr. Pasho, and there is one son who is at present an engineer on the B. & M. road.

At Mt. Washington.

Harlan W. Whipple and Mrs. Whipple, of this town, the former president of the American Automobile Association, were present at the hill climbing contest at Mt. Washington last week and witnessed the several dashes up the mountain. The event was won by a Newton car, the time being 24 min. 35 3-5 sec. After the few days spent at the Mountain a trip through New Hampshire was taken, which the occupants of 35 cars from Boston and New York enjoyed. The weather was delightful during the week and there was nothing to mar the pleasure of the occasion.

Governor Batchelder was present and enjoyed the trip immensely. For a large part of the trip the Governor occupied a seat in Mr. Whipple's car. Mr. Whipple was presented with a valuable gold medal by the committee in this event. Mr. and Mrs. Whipple were both delighted with the trip, and speak highly of the hospitality of the New Hampshire people.

Fisk Day at St. Louis.

The Fisk Day, July sixth, accorded to Fisk University by the management of the World's Fair at St. Louis, was an exceedingly interesting occasion. The exercises were held in the famous Festival Hall. The audience was very large, about one-third being colored people. There were representatives from Fisk alumni from nearly every southern state, as well as many northern states. A company of Jubilee Singers, especially trained at the University for the purpose, by one of the original Jubilee Singers, sang greatly to the delight of all present. A male quartette from the same company was also repeatedly encored.

President J. G. Merrill gave an address of welcome and told of the aim of the school to furnish the best equipped leaders possible for the colored people. The quality of the work done at Fisk, he said, could be estimated by the fact that a young man who got his B. A. at Fisk in '03 received an M. A. at Yale in '04. That such men were needed and could use their equipment was seen in the fact that all the Alumni of Fisk are at work along the line for which they were educated.

Mrs. Booker T. Washington, of the College Class of '89 of Fisk, made a capital address upon "The Songs of Our Fathers", in which she traced the connection between these inimitable songs and the life of her Alma Mater. She showed their effect not only upon the individual life of the students, but also upon the institutional life. Her paper was most cordially received.

A reunion of all the sons and daughters of Fisk was held at the close of the exercises.

Had an Eye Removed.

About three weeks ago James S. Flint, a resident of the West District, injured one of his eyes severely by having it pierced by a straw as he was bending down in one of the fields on his farm. It pained him quite severely at the time, but it was thought that nothing serious would develop. Shortly after, however, an ulcer developed, which pained the unfortunate man severely.

On Saturday Mr. Flint had the eye removed at the Lowell General Hospital, and he is now resting comfortably.

PETER HARRISON.

The death of Peter Harrison, an old and respected resident of this town, occurred at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Martha Lyle at 87 North Main street at the age of 71 years, 11 months and 10 days. He was of a very quiet disposition and was spoken well of by all who knew him.

Mr. Harrison was born in England but had been a resident of this country about 40 years, first making his home in Lawrence. Some 17 years ago he moved to this town and has since resided here.

He had been employed in the Tyler Rubber factory up to within a week before he died and was a trusted employee. Death was caused by a combined malady of bronchitis and asthma and was of short duration.

The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late home Rev. F. A. Wilson officiating. Interment was in Bellevue cemetery. Lawrence Mr. Harrison is survived by a wife and one daughter, Mrs. Lyle.

ADDRESS CF WELCOME.

In his address of welcome President Charles O. Day of the Andover Theological seminary spoke as follows:

We are becoming used to pilgrimages from suburban towns like Boston and Salem, and the more that comes the warmer the welcome. But even this is new. Previously, however, that they do not come to see ancient ruins, which defect in American landscape a witty divine said could be supplied on Andover Hill. There is a special reason why visitors from Salem are welcome here. Andover and Salem are perhaps the two most typically New England towns in the Commonwealth as representatives of New England history, ideals and spirit. Many bonds besides the welcome trolley line serve to unite us. Andover has been called the most conservative of New England towns. Let us except Salem, individuality, sincerity, loyalty to its traditions, and devotion to the highest standards of leadership because in the leadership of ideas, may be fairly said to mark both towns in an unusual degree. The last Pilgrimage which came here devoted itself to the monuments of famous men and women who here have lived and died. The Pilgrimage of the Essex Institute puts its emphasis upon nature history, a fact which makes it doubly welcome. Together with the like-minded society of this town, not only the minds of the membership but the attention of the public at large is directed to the fresh air and falling leaves of the Pilgrimage and rest to be found in such study. Ruskin says, that as soon as the question is asked, How much did it cost, implying how few can have it, the mark of savagery is stamped upon the valuation of the means of rest or pleasure considered. The Pilgrimage of the Essex Institute pleasures are those universally possible. We have but to open our eyes and look about us, something all men may do, to get into nature's dreamland, to thing with Andrew Marvel, "a green thought in a green shade," or with Emerson, "to enter into the inner place of the forest." More than this is done. These pursuits mean training in observation, in fine distinction, in a perpetual passing of judgment. This is not that; and this at once leads to a moral quality of the highest order. The thoroughly scientific character which the Pilgrimage has put has an

A BUBBLE BLOWING INSECT.

"A Bubble-Blowing Insect," was the subject of the address by Prof. E. S. Morse of the Peabody academy of science. He said in part:

"Many years ago, while preparing an elementary book on zoology, I had occasion to make a drawing of the little insect which is found on grass and other plants immersed in flecks of froth. This substance is commonly known as frog spittle or cuckoo spit, and, being found in the spring, is known in France as 'spring froth,'

"Works on entomology gave the general statement that this insect emitted the frothy mass from its body. Curious to ascertain what peculiar gas-secreting apparatus was contained within its anatomy, I dissected a number of specimens, without finding a trace of any structure that could produce from within the body a single bubble of air. On the contrary, I found that the little insect emitted a clear, somewhat viscid fluid, and by meanly append a fine extreme tip of its tail, secured mainly by grasping it, so to speak, and then instantly releasing it as a bubble in the fluid it had secreted. At the time of this observation—twenty-five years ago—I supposed that entomologists were familiar with this fact, but, on the appearance of my little book, one of the sections on the matter of Hermann Hagen, the distinguished entomologist, stating that he had ransacked his library and failed to find any reference of the nature of my statement. Doubtless the whole history of this insect has since been published, but a somewhat superficial survey of the literature has failed to reveal any reference to the matter. In this connection it is interesting to observe how often the most easily accessible facts of nature escape the special student. The history of science is replete with such instances.⁵ One can hardly take up any subject connected with the life history of animals, without finding a host of errors, which are often filled long ago. The facts in regard to the ossification of the hyoid bones in man is a case in point. The persistence of these erroneous concepts, or, half-truths comes about by the acceptance at the outset of some fairly trustworthy account by an authority on the subject, and so on, and so on, until expressed without a doubt being expressed to their accuracy.

"If we look over the literature of the subject under discussion, we find that in nearly every case the statement in regard to the spit-insect conveys the idea that the creature secretes the froth in which it is immersed, beginning with De Geer, the last gentlemanly quote as follows: "One may see coming out of the hinder part of its body a little ball of liquid, which it causes to slip along, bending it under its body. Beginning again the same movements, it is not long in producing a second globe of liquid, which with air like the first, is placed along its side until it is close to the preceding one, and continues the same operation as long as there remains any sap in its body." Kirby and Spence in their Entomology, describe "the white froth often observed on plants, bushes and other shrubs and plants, called by the vulgar frog spit, and which if exhaled by the animal, will envelop the larva of a small hemipterous insect (Aphrophora spumaria) from whose anus it exudes." Trend of Civilization in All Lines From Week to Week

POLITICS and GOVERNMENT

General.

Wisconsin a National Issue.

Governor La Follette of Wisconsin has declared in an interview that the rejection of the regular delegates by the Republican convention at Chicago makes a national issue. Sooner or later, he says, other states will fall in line with Wisconsin "to rid the Republican party of corruption control and again make it the party it was in the days of Lincoln." So far as known President Roosevelt has refused to show any favor to either faction Governor La Follette.

In Wisconsin. Opposed to the governor are all the great railway and corporation interests of the state as well as the senators and congressmen and the more important newspapers. Nevertheless he appears to have a powerful personal organization among the masses on a platform demanding the direct primary, the ad valorem taxation and a graduated income tax.

Bryan For Parker and Davis.

After the Democratic convention was over Mr. Bryan gave out a formal statement, as an editorial in the Commonwealth, explaining that he would vote for Parker and Davis for four reasons—namely, that the Democratic ticket stands for opposition to imperialism, that its election will prevent the attempt of the Republicans to inject the race issue into American politics, that it stands for peace, reason and arbitration rather than for force, conquest and bluster, and that it favors a reduction of the standing army. These advantages to the people Bryan said he believed Parker would try to carry out, but that he had no hope that anything would be done along the line of economic or political reform as long as the party was under Wall street control. On the money question he said Parker was as thoroughly committed to the financiers as Roosevelt. On the trust question he thought the Democratic platform was much better than the Republican, but that the nomination of Parker practically nullifies the trust plank. He still charges Parker's nomination to trickery.

Bryan says that his contest for political and economic reform will begin again as soon as the polls close and will be continued until success is achieved.

Conference at Oyster Bay.

Following the action of the Democratic convention an important Republican conference was held in the home of the president at Oyster Bay, July 11, when Senator Fairbanks and Chairman Cortelyou of the Republican national committee were with the president, presumably for the purpose of mapping out the lines of the national campaign now fully under way. Treasurer Bliss of the national committee was also in conference with the president. Campaign headquarters are to be opened at New York about Aug. 1.

Minnesota Split Feared.

The nomination of R. C. Dunn for governor of Minnesota by the Republican state convention is generally regarded as a victory for the railroad corporations, and the friends of Governor Van Sant are urging him to head an independent state ticket on an anti-merger platform.

Foreign.

Panama Opposes Custom Houses.

The merchants of Panama and Colon assembled at Panama, July 12, to express their alarm and disapproval of Governor Davis' decree establishing a custom house in the canal zone, which they declared means the ruin of the commerce of Panama and Colon and consequently of the republic. The chamber of commerce appointed a committee to communicate with the government. It considers the application of the Dingley tariff not only detrimental to commerce, but against the spirit of the canal treaty.

Russia Offends England.

Great indignation was aroused throughout England by the action of the Russian volunteer steamer Petersburg, which had mounted guns after passing through the Bosphorus as a commercial steamer, in searching two British steamers in the Red Sea. A formal protest to Russia was urged by the press. This occurred on the 11th, when the steamships Menelaus and Crewehall were near Jeddah, and they were detained four hours.

The British fleet in the east was also believed to be under orders to maintain the freedom of the port of Newchwang, from which a British cruiser was excluded by the Russians last week.

American-Russian Treaty.

A treaty between the United States and Russia, providing that corporations in both countries may sue in the courts of either was promulgated at St. Petersburg Tuesday. Heretofore American concerns could be sued in Russia, but could not bring suit in that country.

British Start For Lassa.

The Younghusband expedition in Tibet resumed its march toward Lassa, July 14, after issuing a proclamation to the inhabitants promising noninterference with religion and liberty and giving assurance for further negotiation.

Russia's Prison Reform.

One of the most sweeping reforms of the present reign in Russia was put into effect July 11 by the czar's decree. The system of condemning political prisoners by administrative order was then abolished, and henceforth prisoners accused of political crimes will be tried by the courts. This measure was recommended by the counsel of the empire, with the approval of M. Plehve.

Notes.

An arbitration agreement for the settlement of differences of a legal nature or in relation to the interpretation of existing treaties has been signed by Great Britain and Germany. It is similar to that lately signed with France, Italy and Spain. * * * The French chamber of deputies by a vote of 241 to 154 set aside the investigation committee's adverse report in regard to the Charteux scandal. * * * Several French bishops received an order from Cardinal Vannutelli to send in their resignations, whereupon the minister of public worship informed the bishops that they were removable only by the joint desire of state and church. * * * Russia has arranged with prominent German bankers for a loan of 250,000,000 marks at 5 per cent. * * * The board of electors of the republic of Mexico announced the re-election of Porfirio Diaz as president and the election of Ramon Corral as vice president. * * * An honorary colonel in chief of the Russian regiment known as the Eighty-fifth Wilborg Infantry, Emperor William of Germany telegraphed his good wishes for the success of the regiment on its departure for the front. This was taken in Russia to indicate Germany's sympathy.

Executive.

Destroyer Blakely Completed.

The torpedo boat destroyer Blakely, built by Lawley & Son of Boston, had her hull completed for speed in Narragansett Bay. She was pronounced satisfactory. She exceeded the 25 knots required by the contract, making 25.6 knots.

Funston to Succeed Corbin.

Orders were issued July 13 assigning General Frederick Funston, now in charge of the department of the Columbia, to the command of the Atlantic division, comprising the departments of the east and of the Gulf, to succeed General Henry C. Corbin, who is soon to succeed General Wade in command of the division of the Philippines. General Constant Williams, now at San Antonio, Tex., will succeed Funston in command of the department of the Columbia.

Census of American Negroes.

The latest census bureau bulletin shows that 9,204,531 negroes were living in the United States in 1900, including Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico. This is undoubtedly the largest negro population in any country outside of Africa. Nine-tenths of the negro population in this country is in the old slave states and nearly one-third in the three states of Georgia, Mississippi and Alabama. In Mississippi and South Carolina the negroes exceed the whites in number. In spite of the recent tendency of negro population toward the city this bulletin shows that 77 per cent were still living in the country, while the percentage of white rural population was only 57.

Igorrotes Not Indecent.

President Roosevelt has decided that there is nothing indecent about the manner in which the Igorrotes tribesmen of the Philippines, who take part in the world's fair exhibit, and they will be allowed to wear their unconventional costume, or lack of it, henceforth. This decision was in line with the recommendation of the board of lady managers.

Legal and Criminal.

Memphis Rid of Gamblers.

The determination of the citizens of Memphis, Tenn., to rid their city of the gambling nuisance by means of a special committee of public safety resulted last week in the clearing of every gambling house and den in the city and the dumping of all gambling paraphernalia into the Mississippi river. A mass meeting was held and a committee of 1,000 men appointed to demand the resignation of Mayor Williams and Vice Mayor Henderson, who, the citizens think, are most guilty. The police and other officials were severely criticised and condemned as being in sympathy with the gambling element.

Nonunion Men Favored.

Judge Ludwig, in the superior court at Milwaukee, decided that contracts made by labor unions with manufacturers prohibiting the employment of nonunion labor constitute class discrimination and are therefore unconstitutional. The decision was rendered in the suit brought by the Milwaukee Custom Tailors' union against a local concern who had signed such a contract and failed to carry it out.

Colorado Dynamite Confession.

Secretary Frank Cochran of the Victor (Colo.) Miners' union in a confession made public by District Attorney Crump involves Secretary Haywood of the Western Federation of Miners and other members of the federation in the dynamite explosion at the Independent railway station, which killed fifteen nonunion miners, June 6. Cochran says that Haywood came to Victor and arranged the details of the plot. Cochran himself admits being one of the plotters, and says Victor Poole was paid $200 to explode the dynamite, and that he escaped over the mountains, where a wagon was waiting to take him to Colorado Springs.

Antigambling Law Valid.

Another battle has been fought out at New York in the legal war which District Attorney Jerome is waging against the professional gamblers. Under the new law passed by the last legislature the appellate division of the supreme court decided that Millionaire Lewisohn must tell what he knew about gambling at Canfield's, thus holding that the law is constitutional. The judges stood three to two on this decision, and Lewisohn will appeal to the highest court. All along he has refused to answer questions as a witness on the ground that it would tend to incriminate him.

RELIGIOUS

Mrs. Eddy Resents Intrusion.

Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, the founder of the Christian Science denomination, has caused a new rule to be added to the laws of her church for the protection of herself from annoying intrusion by her admiring followers. It is headed, "Thou Shalt not Steal." It says: "Neither a Christian Scientist, his student nor his patient nor a member of the mother church shall daily and continuously haunt Mrs. Eddy's drive."

Growth of Sunday Schools.

During the past year the American Sunday School union has established 2,542 new Bible schools, has obtained 9,724 conversions in these schools and those previously established by the society and has established 133 churches developed from the schools. Its agents have made 221,568 visits to families in sections where there are no churches or pastors, have distributed 27,161 copies of the Bible among needy families and in the schools established by the society, and 259 missionaries have labored in the neglected sections in forty-two states and territories.

Effects of the Parker Telegram

Conflicting emotions of exultation and grief, gratitude and angry resentment shook the fourth and last day's session of the Democratic national convention at St. Louis, July 9, when the man who earlier in the day had been chosen on the first ballot as the party's candidate for president sent that brief but clear and convincing telegram to his friend Sheehan saying that he regarded the gold standard as "firmly and irrevocably established," and proposing to decline the nomination if his view was "unsatisfactory to the majority." To many in the east and south it looked like dictation. To others it was a rainbow of promise, a beacon of safety. After a heated discussion, however, a large majority (774 to 191) favored Mr. Williams' reply to Judge Parker—namely, that as the money standard was not regarded as an issue there was nothing in his telegram to prevent his accepting the nomination. Bryan said the telegram was mainly, but that it would have been milder if Parker had told his views before the convention met, as Hill had told the committee he did not know what Parker thought.

Thus without intending it the Democratic party enters the campaign with a leader who forced it into a gold standard attitude. The nomination of the venerable ex-United States Senator Henry G. Davis of West Virginia, eighty-one years old, but well preserved, then was made unanimously and the convention adjourned. Among eastern Democrats the Parker gold telegram has caused the greatest enthusiasm.

Young women may avoid much sickness and pain, says Miss Alma Pratt, if they will only have faith in the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Judging from the letters she is receiving from so many young girls, Mrs. Pinkham believes that our girls are often pushed altogether too near the limit of their endurance nowadays in our public schools and seminaries.

Nothing is allowed to interfere with studies, the girl must be pushed to the front and graduated with honor; often physical collapse follows, and it takes years to recover the lost vitality,—often it is never recovered. Miss Pratt says,—

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to tell all young women how much Lydia E. Pinkham's wonderful Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was completely run down, unable to attend school, and did not care for any kind of society, but now I feel like a new person, and have gained seven pounds of flesh in three months."

"I recommend it to all young women who suffer from female weakness."—MISS ALMA PRATT, Holly, Mich. $5.00 per bottle if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

sign to each boy and girl a different tree, or let groups of children study one together. The end of the season each little collection should contain the seedling plant with the roots, a branch of leaves, a sheaf or more showing the different forms of leaves, the flowers of both sorts if more than one, the fruit in different stages. A specimen of the wood should accompany the sheets, showing the grain, lengthways and across, together with the bark. Such a collection if carefully prepared and neatly mounted would be a valuable addition to any local museum and carry the name of the collectors down most creditably, while the written remarks would serve admirably as exercises in English composition. Other groups of children could collect the insects found upon trees, those which come to fertilize the flowers and those which are the enemies of the tree.

The paper closed with further details regarding museum work.

BIRD LIFE

"The Ethics of Bird Life" was the topic discussed by Corwin F. Palmer, superintendent of the Andover schools. He said in part:

Birds attract us at first by their song and plumage and their graceful movements. A more intimate acquaintance with bird life in its varied forms, however, reveals many characteristics that are so intensely human in their manifestations that we become fascinated with the study. We find so many traits in common between us and our little brothers of the air, they are so ethereal, so lifting, they come and go so silently, so mysteriously, that in fancy, at least, we invest them with spiritual qualities akin to our own. Their domestic and social lives, their industries, their governments are epitomes of human kind and a trip into bird-land becomes as enchanting as a voyage to Lilliput.

These human qualities of birds make them an interesting and profitable department of nature study in the schools.

Birds have always been a favorite theme of the poet and the artist.

They enter largely into the symbolism of the mythology, and the religions of the ancient and the modern world.

Their forthright, systematic habits and industry profoundly impressed primitive man.

The Romans, especially, used them as a means of divination, several different species were either objects of worship themselves or else they were intimately associated with the worship of other deities.

The speaker cited many illustrations derived from his own observations and those of others.

BOTANY OF THE LOCALITY.

Arthur S. Pease of Andover spoke interestingly on "The Botany of the Locality," calling attention to the various ways in which the indigenous plants, particularly those of this region are being replaced by a flora consisting largely of introduced species.

MUSHROOMS.

R. B. Mackintosh gave an instructive talk on "Edible Mushrooms." Mr. Mackintosh had several specimens on exhibition which he had gathered on the farm and he described each species. He told of the poisonous and non-poisonous varieties and he said that if anyone were not familiar with mushrooms it would always be safe to let them alone.

He said that an interesting thing about them was that although there were six families with several varieties to each family, a person will call everything except his special favorite a toad-stool, while the very variety which is his favorite will be a toad-stool to some one else.

Mr. Mackintosh described very clearly the manner of growth of the different kinds of mushrooms and explained the difference between edible mushrooms and poisonous ones. His talk was cut short to the regret of all owing to the lateness of the hour.

John Henry Sears, curator of mineralogy, geology and botany in the academy of Science in Salem, who was to discuss "The Glacial Phenomena of the Region," was unable to attend the meeting.

Mr. Hoff of the Lawrence Natural History Society who was to have been one of the speakers, could not be heard, to the regret of all, owing to the lateness of the hour.

COLUMBIA CONSERVE COMPANY.

An Appeal to the Children.

You are fond of flowers, so you will be sorry to hear that many of our prettiest wild flowers are fast dying out of certain places where they used to grow. You will ask, Why? what makes them die out?

It is because people pick too many, often all they can find. They cannot all grow again, as people sometimes think, because the flowers that are picked cannot go to seed, and if large branches are pulled off it will take a long time for the plant to get back to the same size. Then many of our very prettiest flowers have but one blossom or one cluster to a plant, and a small plant, too; and people are apt to take the whole of such plants, root and all. Did you ever do anything like that? If so, it was only because you didn't think.

You ought to go for a pleasant walk in the summer, or you go on a picnic, and don't you often, all of you, pick flowers whenever you see them, and see what large bunches you can make? And how many get home with you at night? Many of them get wilted, and you are tired of them, and do you not secretly throw many of them away?

Did you ever think that you had destroyed life which you could not bring back, and beauty which you had never made? I am sure you did not. I only want to set you to thinking, and you will be protectors instead of destroyers of flowers.

But you will think that I want you to pick no flowers at all. This is not what I mean. I only want you to think just what happens when we thoughtlessly pick all that we find, or pull up the roots, or even when we pick but a few of the truly rare wild flowers.

Where flowers are very abundant, you can take some. A few columbines and lupines are far more beautiful than many held close together. There are even some flowers that you may gather in quantities, and very pretty ones. Daisies, buttercups, and wild carrot are the farmer's enemies. He will be glad to have your help in getting rid of them. But what charming flowers they are! The latter well deserves its name of "Queen Anne's lace."

Then robin's plantain and the fleabanes, that come just a little later, the yellow daisies, sometimes called black-eyed Susans, butter-and-eggs, gold-rod and asters of autumn,—there is no much danger of your destroying them.

But you have judgment; use it. When flowers are few, leave them all. Never take many, even when they are abundant, except when you are helping the farmers. Think of others who may walk in the same woods after you, and leave pretty things for them to find. Do as you would be done by.

Now, people who admire and love flowers have formed a society to give our native plants a chance to spread and grow more common. It is called The Society for the Protection of Native Plants. Would you like to join it? If so, perhaps you can form a branch society for the same purpose in your town, which could be affiliated with the general society. The address of the Secretary is Miss Maria E. Carter, Boston Society of Natural History, Berkeley Street, Boston, Mass.

GIFT OF MEMORIAL LIBRARY

Hon. Moses T. Stevens Generously Offers
$20,000 for Land and Building.

The citizens of North Andover are highly pleased with the very public spirited offer made by the Hon. Moses T. Stevens to furnish a site and erect a library building to cost not less than $20,000, thus making it necessary for the town to reject the generous offer of Andrew Carnegie to build a $12,000 building for a similar purpose should the town furnish a site.

A special town meeting was held on Tuesday evening to consider the matter of accepting Mr. Carnegie's offer. Town Clerk James W. Leitch called the assembly to order at 8 o'clock and acted as the secretary of the meeting. The name of Peter Holt was mentioned for moderator to preside at the meeting and he was elected.

The article in the warrant asking for an extension of the town water system through Essex street to the residence of Hubert M. Whittier on petition of Winfield S. Hughes and others, was first taken up. Great discussion took place. On the motion of Mr. Osgood it was voted to extend the system asked for without any guarantee. This action was most acceptable to the grangers.

The matter of Mr. Carnegie's offer was next considered. James C. Poor, chairman of the board of selectmen read several letters of correspondence with Carnegie's representative. The iron king proposed to erect a $12,000 library building should the town vote to furnish a suitable site and vote to appropriate annually the sum of $1200 for its maintenance.

At this time the communication received from Mr. Stevens by the selectmen was read by Moderator Holt. The generosity of one of North Andover's most prominent citizens, so apparent, brought forth great enthusiasm among those present and the reading of the communication was received with great applause. It was decided to reject Mr. Carnegie's offer, making to him an explanation of the conditions of the rejection and expressing thanks for his generous offer. The article was then stricken from the warrant.

It was decided to leave Mr. Stevens' offer in the hands of the selectmen to present so that they may confer with him in regard to it. Later they will call a meeting of the voters to consider it. A copy of Mr. Stevens' communication as read by Moderator Holt follows:

North Andover, Mass., July 19, 1904.
To

James C. Poor,
Peter Holt,
Patrick P. Daw,
Selectmen of North Andover
I make the following proposition to the Town of North Andover:

I will furnish the site and construct a building suitable for a Library and Historical Records, to cost not less than twenty thousand dollars, the same to be deeded to the town and placed in the hands of

Nathaniel Stevens
Sam Dale Stevens
George Edmund Davis
James Clinton Poor
Charles Plummer Morrill
Mary Osgood Tyler
Annie Laura Sargent
who shall fill any vacancies in their board, serve without compensation from the town and decide on the location, plans, and construction of the building.

The Trustees to choose a treasurer and a clerk from their number who shall keep a record of their doings. The Trustees to have full charge of the building, grounds, purchasing of books, appointing officers and all matters connected with the library and contents.

To be known as a "Memorial Library" with the addition of the name to be selected by the donor and approved by the Trustees. This proposal will not be binding unless accepted by a two-thirds vote in the affirmative of the voters present and voting in a legal meeting called for the purpose.
